Exploits of the Desperado
Who Killed Six Men Since June 9 and Defied Officers of Two States.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 6.—Harry Tracy, the outlaw, is dead—dead by his own hand.

Surrounded by a posse of pursuers, all well armed, the desperado took his life with a revolver, the bullet piercing the brain.

Tracy had been surrounded in a field of wheat on a farm near the town of Fellows. The posse knew that the outlaw was in the field, and had thrown pickets on every side of the desperado's refuge.

At 4:30 this morning a shot was heard in the field and the leader of the sheriff's men at once concluded that Tracy had taken his own life, as he had sworn never to be captured alive.

Cautiously the line of pickets closed in, and near the center of the field the dead body of the outlaw was found.

When Tracy's body was discovered it was found that he had been wounded in the right thigh, and it is supposed that this wound was received in the fight last night.

FIVE MEN ARE HEROES.

Four citizens of the little farming town of Creston, and a solo deputy sheriff are entitled to the credit of Tracy's capture.

The posse that will share the reward was made up as follows: C. A. Straub, deputy sheriff; Dr. E. C. Lanter, Maurice Smith, attorney; J. J. Morrison, railway section foreman; and Frank Lillington.

These men, armed to the teeth, set out from Creston yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock. They were working on the information of the Goldfinch youth, who had been forcibly making the companion of the Oregon convict for over 24 hours at the ranch of L. B. Eddy, on Lake creek, about three miles south from Fellows, a station on the Washington Central Railway.

The party made all possible haste in getting to the ranch. When within a few hundred yards of the farm they encountered Farmer Eddy mowing in one of his fields. While engaging him in conversation they saw a man issuing from the barn door.

TRACY'S LAST FIGHT.

"Is that Tracy?" asked one of the party.

"It surely is," replied Eddy.

The party separated, Lanter and Smith accompanying Eddy in the direction of the barn, while the other two men swung around to the other side. Two of the men hunters stepped behind the barn on a slight eminence, from where they could watch everything that went on, and Eddy continued on up to the door. Tracy came from the barn again and began helping his host unhitch the horses. He carried no rifle, although he had his revolver in place. The fugitive finally saw the men carrying rifles, and turning sharply to Eddy, said: "Who are those men?"

"I don't see any men," said Eddy.

Tracy pointed out the two men on the hill. Eddy informed his companion who the men were, and the outlaw made a leap for the barn door. The pursuers, stepping a bit closer, commanded: "Hold up your hands." The outlaw jumped behind Eddy and placed first the farmer and then his horse between himself and the pursuers. He commanded the farmer to lead his horse to the barn, and, remaining under cover, moved toward shelter. When near the stable he broke and dashed inside. He quickly reappeared, rifle in hand, and started on a dead run.

Turning on the two men nearest him, the desperado fired two shots, but without his usual luck, neither bullet taking effect. Without waiting for further fighting, Tracy made a dash down the valley leading south from the barn, and headed for the brush.

RUNNING BATTLE BEGAN.

In an instant the man hunters were off in pursuit, firing as they ran. Coming to a rock Tracy dodged behind it, and, resting his gun on the rock, began a fusillade. Eight shots in all were fired by the posse, but none hitting his mark. Seeing he was not succeeding, he bolted for a wheat field close by. At the edge of the field he stumbled, falling on his face, and crawled into the grain on his hands and knees.

It was growing dark and the pursuers, not daring to move in closer, decided to surround the place and wait for daylight. In the meantime Sheriff Gardner, with P. H. Stuffer, and G. W. Martin, of St. Louis, Jack O'Farrell of Davenport and other reinforcements, had arrived on the scene, and they went into camp around the field during the night.

About daylight a shot was heard from the direction of the wheat field. As soon as dawn came an entrance was made into the wheat field.

THE BANDIT IN DEATH.

Tracy's dead body was found lying on the grain with his face turned toward the sky. His left hand thrown over his head held a revolver, which had inflicted the death wound. The thumb of his hand was on the trigger of the pistol. His right hand, thrown across the lower part of his body, firmly grasped the barrel of his famous rifle.

Death was inflicted by a revolver held close to the forehead. The top of his head was badly shattered.

Bullet wounds on his leg showed the cause of the man's despondency. One shot had broken the leg between the ankle and the knee. The other cut the tibial artery, which of itself was sufficient cause for death.

It is believed that both of these wounds were received after the convict left the shelter of the field and made his break for the wheat field.

The murderer had taken a strap and buckled it tightly around his leg, in an attempt to stop the bleeding. Despite the tightly fastened strap, the bleeding continued until he probably realized his hopeless condition, and ended the struggle. He was dressed in blue overalls, a white shirt, and no coat or vest. He wore a bi-

TRAIN ROBBED IN WESTERN ILLINOIS BANDIT KILLED

Express Messenger Thinks
He Shot the Brigand.

SIX OR EIGHT MEN IN BAND

PLUNDER SAFES ON BURLINGTON
TRAIN NEAR SAVANNAH.

Six Sacks of Money and Valuable
Papers Taken From the Car,
Which Had Been Wrecked
With Dynamite.

MOUNT CARROLL, Ill., Aug. 6.—A daring and successful train robbery occurred at Marcus, on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railway, five miles north of Savannah, about midnight.

The fine vestibuled passenger train of 11 coaches, Conductor Emerson in charge, was flagged at the little station and six masked men boarded the engine.

The engineer and fireman obeyed the imperative orders of the robbers and at once uncoupled the engine and express car from the train and ran them a mile up the track. The bandits blew up the express car with dynamite, ran the engine north, a distance of a mile from Hanover, and "killed" it.

One of the brigands was killed, being shot above the eye and also in the leg. He met death while in the engine, and his body was dumped on one side of the track by his companions.

The express messenger, Bye, claims to have done the shooting, but the details of his exploit have not been learned.

The dead robber was a stranger in this vicinity. He was middle-aged and well dressed.

The robbery was done quickly, the trainmen and passengers making no defense. Six sacks of money were secured, but the amount is not known. The passengers were not molested.

There was no way of telegraphing news of the hold-up, and a flagman walked back and gave the alarm. A special train of citizens and several policemen at once proceeded to the scene, but as the track runs along the Mississippi, and the country is well adapted to a successful flight, the robbers easily escaped. The work was evidently that of experts, as they went at it coolly and methodically.

The train attacked is one of the finest in the world, and usually carries considerable money, which must have been known by the highwaymen.

The train is known as No. 47, leaving Chicago at 5:30 p. m. It is a through train for Minneapolis. It is said to have carried heavy and valuable express.

It is reported that the robbers secured about $20,000.

ROBBERS WERE RAILROAD MEN

SAVANNAH, Ill., Aug. 6.—Further details of the C. B. & Q.'s train robbery show that there were six or eight men in the robber band.

They evidently were railroad men, one being a good engineer.

The bandits had arranged to ditch the entire train of nine heavily laden coaches, had not the signal to stop been heeded. Several passengers in the buffet car, including the porter, were held prisoners during the first attempt to blow the safe.

Four explosions were required to complete the destruction of the safe, and the car was badly wrecked.

Messenger William Bye fired five shots at the robbers after they had blown up his car and were escaping on the engine.

It is not known that one of his bullets killed the robber whose body was found near the track, but Bye thinks he killed the man.

One theory is that the robber was killed by a comrade by mistake.

In his pockets was found an Iowa Central mileage credential from Grinnell to Gilman, Ia., issued in the name of A. L. Jacobs.

STATEMENT OF THE OFFICIALS

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Following is the official account of the robbery, issued by the general manager of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railway:

"Train 47 was held up last night about 11:30 at South Switch, Marcus, about ten miles north of Savannah, Ill. The switch was turned for passing track and the train flagged. The two head cars, consisting of a mail and express car and a composite car, were cut off and taken to the north switch, where the safe in the express car was blown open with dynamite and contents taken, after which the engine was cut off by the robbers and started north.

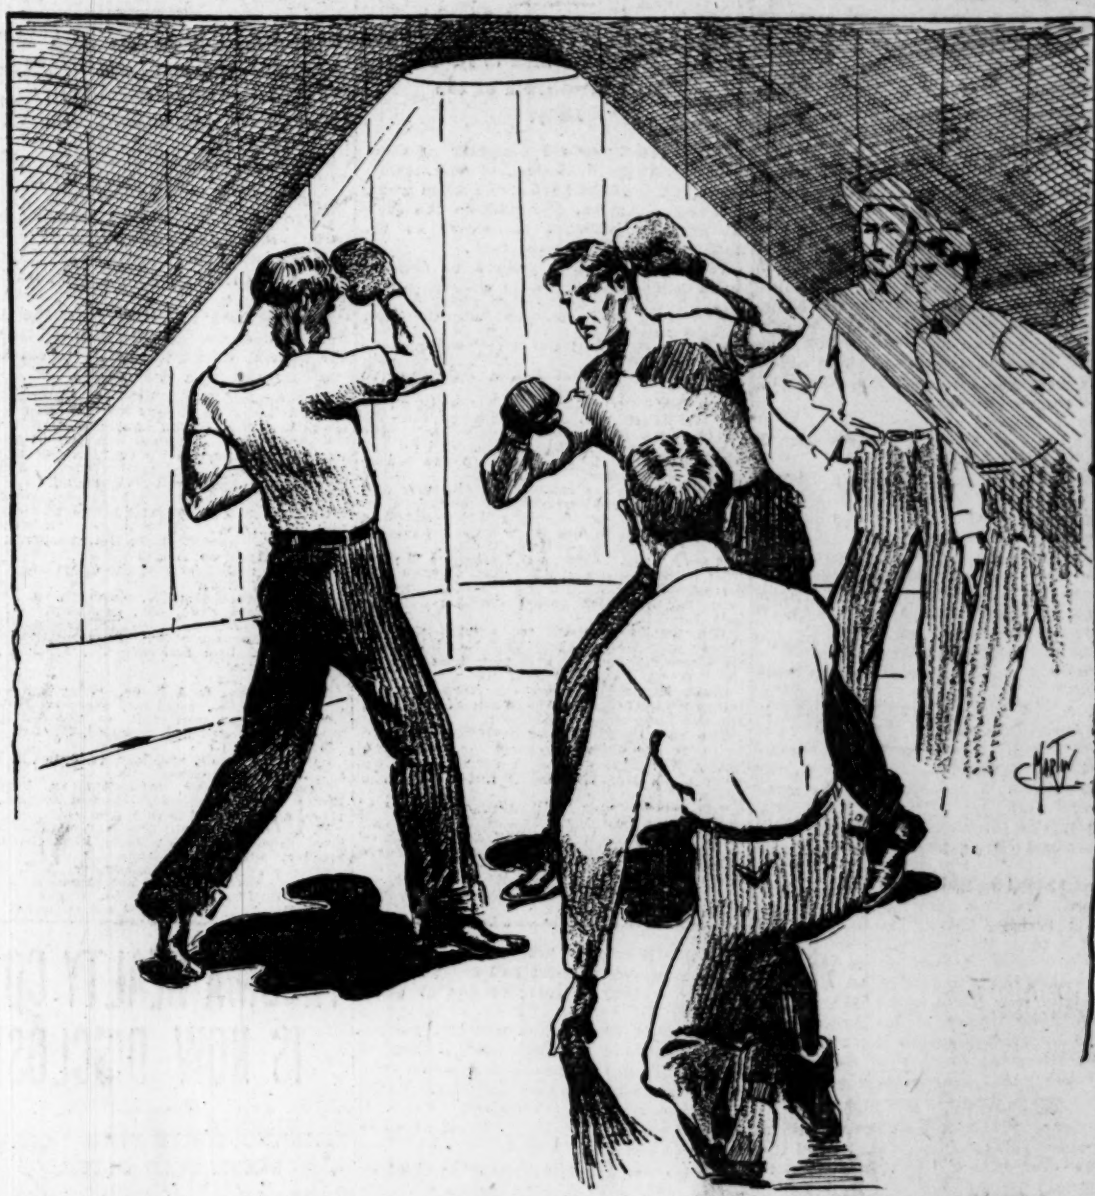

As the robbers left the express messenger fired at them. One robber was found dead about one mile north of Marcus, and his body was given over to the coroner. At least six men were concerned in the robbery. So far as known only $2000 in silver was secured. None of the crew was hurt and none of the passengers molested. The express end of the riddled car was badly damaged.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: Tell Mr. Cuddehe to take a tumble and let me alone or I will fix him plenty. I will be on my way to Wyoming. If your horses were any good would swap with you. Thanks for a cool drink. HARRY TRACY.

The Cuddehe referred to in the note is the Seattle sheriff who has been in pursuit of the desperado.

TARPAULIN SHIELDED THE CARPET AND A CHANDELIER GAVE LIGHT FOR THE DESPERATE COMBAT.

Weight—Moss 140, Kalish 160.

Age—Moss 23, Kalish 24.

The knockout blow—A left to the stomach.

Lionel Kalish Won From Alvin Moss, Putting Him Down and Out in the Presence of Eight Seconds and a Referee.

FIERCE FIGHTING THROUGHOUT

Enmity Followed Friendship Six Weeks Ago, and Since Then the Rivals Had Awaited an Opportunity to Settle the Great Question.

For the preference in a fair woman's favor, Alvin Moss, 4100 West Pine boulevard, and Lionel Kalish, living at Delmar avenue and Sarah street, both well known in social circles, fought seven desperate rounds with gloves in the parlor of a Lindell avenue mansion last night.

Brutal and battered after the fight, both men had to be escorted home, Kalish, the victor, being almost in as bad a condition as Moss, who went down and out in the seventh round.

For all the punishment taken and given neither man now knows whether he has won the favor of the fair one concerned. The meeting was the outcome of rivalry for the regard of the young lady involved, who is very well known in West End society, and the principals to the affair have for years been staunch friends.

Up to six weeks ago intimates of the pair had an inkling of bad blood between them, and the first evidence of hostility came when Kalish, it is said, wrote to the young lady asking that she refuse to entertain Mr. Moss any longer.

Moss was informed of the circumstance, and was incensed that his friend should use this method to defeat him. He made threats as to what he would do when they met again, but persuaded by friends, a more diplomatic course was chosen.

THE CHALLENGE.

The affair was taken charge of by friends and conducted on regie, according to Parisian methods of the duello.

Moss formally challenged Kalish to a finish fight and a date was set for the affair. Moss, however, injured his hand in a ball game, and the meeting had to be postponed for six weeks.

The project was not abandoned, and last night was agreed upon as the time, and the drawing room of 4371 Lindell avenue as the scene of the occurrence.

Both young men are athletes and clever sparrers, and Kalish, who is 30 pounds heavier than his opponent, prepared for the occasion by going into training with a professional, whose name has not been given out.

Last night at 8:30 both principals arrived at the scene of the combat, accompanied by seconds. With Kalish were his brother Ralph and his professional trainer, with Moss were Leroy Schulman of 316 Lindell.
